

176-500 Technology Drive
Boalsburg, PA, 16827, USA
1-814-466-7207

www.sensornetworksinc.com

PRESS RELEASE

May 19, 2017

For Immediate Release

Sensor Networks, Inc. (SNI) of Boalsburg, PA is pleased to announce that it was one of three finalists, out of > 30 submissions, to win a $20,000.00 prize in last week's Annual Shale Gas Innovation Contest held in Pittsburg, PA on May 9, 2017.

The 6th Annual Shale Gas Innovation Contest's GOLD Sponsor was the Ben Franklin Technology Partners. Industry sponsors included: AquaTech, Chevron Technology Ventures, EQT Corporation, Fluid Recovery Systems, LPR Energy, LPR Land Services, the Marcellus Shale Coalition, Praxair, Range Resources, Steptoe & Johnson PLLC, and Williams. Non-Profit sponsors included: Carnegie Mellon University's Scott Institute for Energy Innovation, and the Penn State University's Institute for Natural Gas Research.

SNI's presentation was for its newest wireless-IoT corrosion / erosion ultrasonic monitoring system.

William J. Hall, Director of the Shale Gas Innovation and Commercialization Center and of Ben Franklin Technology Partners hands the $20,000 prize to Dr. Jim Barshinger of Sensor Networks, Inc.

For more information on the contest, see:

<http://www.sgicc.org/2017-shale-gas-innovation-contest.html>

For more information about Sensor Networks' technology, go to www.sensornetworksinc.com or Bruce A. Pellegrino, V.P. Marketing at 1 973 668 6815 or pellegrino@sensornetworksinc.com